FABBS AWARDS

2022 Council Meeting
December 5\textsuperscript{th}, 2022

Roxane Cohen Silver, PhD
University of California, Irvine
FABBS Past President
IDEA Award

- IDEA Award & Committee:
  - The inaugural Award for Inclusivity, Diversity, Equity, and Accessibility (IDEA Award) honors distinguished research, professional practice, and activities (such as mentorship) that advance IDEA principles in the behavioral and brain sciences.

  - One IDEA Award will be given for each of the two categories:
    - Senior scholars, lifetime achievement.
    - Early to mid-career, within 15 years post-PhD.
2022 Lifetime Achievement IDEA Award

James M. Jones, PhD
University of Delaware
2022 Early to Mid-Career IDEA Award

Jacqueline M. Chen, PhD
University of Connecticut
2023 Early Career Awards

Recognizing early career scientists of FABBS member societies who have made major contributions to the sciences of mind, brain, and behavior.

See all awardees on the FABBS Early Career Impact Award webpage.
Annie T. Ginty, PhD

Baylor University

American Psychosomatic Society
Elika Bergelson, PhD
Duke University
Cognitive Science Society
Kathryn Humphreys, PhD
Vanderbilt University
International Society for Developmental Psychobiology
Emily Kappenman, PhD
San Diego State University
Society for Psychophysiological Research
Sudeep Bhatia, PhD
University of Pennsylvania
Society for Judgement and Decision Making
Victoria C. Merritt, PhD
University of California, San Diego
National Academy of Neuropsychology
Dobromir Rahnev, PhD
Georgia Institute of Technology
Psychonomic Society
Student Awards

Recognizing student investigators who have conducted research of superior quality and with broader societal impact.
Undergraduate Research Excellence Awards 2021-2022

Eva McAlister López
University of Michigan, Department of Psychology
- "How Do a Bilingual’s Two Languages Interact? Cross-Linguistic Transfer of Morphological Awareness in Spanish-English Bilinguals."

Justin Grady
George Washington University, Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences
- “Conscientiousness Protects Visual Search Performance from the Impact of Fatigue.”

See all awardees on the FABBS Undergraduate Research Excellence Awards webpage.
Doctoral Dissertation Research Excellence Awards 2021-2022

Tessa Charlesworth
Harvard University, Department of Psychology
• “Patterns of Long-Term Change in Implicit Social Cognition.”

Lauren Clatch
University of Minnesota, Department of Psychology

See all awardees on the FABBS Doctoral Dissertation Research Excellence Awards webpage.